Most of their pieces are connected with music in some way or other, which might be as different as classical and pop or hip-hop or techno or it could even be be a mixture of several styles. These artists are all familiar with the idea of sound and have a good understanding of how it could be used in art. They know and use different kinds of electronic devices to make music and sound. They use mixing desks, delay devices, drum machines, samplers, guitars, synths, sequencers and much more. 4 The music of the artists is, sometimes, more sophisticated than the artists themselves. This is often true, in the case of dance music. A lot of the time the music comes from experimental and futuristic genres, and one artist might be surrounded by music that is very abstract, alienating, and challenging to the listener. So in a way, the music is alien to the artists, but it is still important for them to understand what it is doing. This idea of understanding how the music works, but also questioning and challenging it, is one of the ideas behind my thesis. I wanted to understand this relationship of sound and music and I wanted to understand it by looking at the way that music is used in contemporary art. 5 6 7 8 I really love the idea of the music and the sound playing a role in the way art is presented. I don't believe that art should be a tool that lets people have a peaceful and sound mind. I don't think it should be a distraction or that it should be meaningless. Art is always worth trying to understand, it is always important to not just look at things, but to understand why something is happening. Art should always be a place where 82157476af
